based at least in part on receiving from the first consumer the request to sell the item, the server sending requesting from a to the provider, which is not the first consumer, authorization- a request to ~~transfer-release~~ the at least one restriction on transferability of the item;

the server receiving from the provider ~~authorization~~ an indication that the at least one restriction on [[to]] transferability of the item is released;

based at least in part on receiving from the provider ~~authorization-the indication that the at least one restriction on [[to]] transferability of the item is released, causing the server presenting~~ information about the item ~~to be presented via a computer~~ to at least a second consumer via a second computer in use by the second consumer, in which the information is presented, at least in part, as part of an auction when the selection by the first consumer comprises to ~~transfer-sell~~ the item by auctioning the item, and in which the information is presented, at least in part, as an advertisement when the selection by the first consumer comprises to ~~transfer-sell~~ the item by advertising the item; and in which the server and the second computer are communicatively coupled via the communications network; the server receiving from the second consumer via the second computer an indication to purchase the item; and

based at least in part on receiving from the provider the indication that the at least one restriction on transferability of the item is released, the server causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer.

Claim 2 (Canceled).

3. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, further comprising:

the server requesting from the provider verification that the first consumer possesses the item.

4. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, further comprising:

~~based at least in part on receiving from the provider authorization to transfer the item, causing the server notifying the first consumer via the first computer to be notified that the provider authorized a released the at least one restriction on transferability of the item.~~

Claim 5 (Canceled).

6. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, in which causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer comprises:

causing the ~~provider item, with respect to the first consumer, to be void[[ed]]~~ the item being sold by the first consumer; and causing the provider to reissue the item ~~to be reissued~~ to the second consumer.

7. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, in which causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer comprises:
the server notifying causing the first consumer via the first computer to be notified to send the item to an intermediary, in which the intermediary subsequently sends the item to the second consumer.

8. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, further comprising ~~causing the server charging~~ the provider ~~to be charged~~ a fee in connection with [[a]] the transfer of the item from the first consumer to the second consumer.

9. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 8, in which the fee comprises a flat fee.

10. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, in which causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer comprises:
the server notifying causing the first consumer via the first computer to be notified to send the item to the second consumer.

11. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 1, further comprising:
based at least in part on ~~requesting from~~sending to the provider ~~authorization the request to release the at least one restriction on transferability of the item, the server~~ receiving from the provider at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item; and

in which causing the item to be transferred comprises causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer subject to the at least one additional restriction on transferability.

12. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 11, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a minimum price at which the first consumer may [[re]]sell the item.

13. (Currently Amended) A method performed by at least one server, the method comprising:

the server receiving from a first consumer via a first computer in use by the first consumer a request to sell an item, in which the first consumer purchased the item directly or indirectly from a provider;

in which the provider placed on the item at least one restriction on transferability, the at least one restriction on transferability comprising the item being non-transferable by the first consumer; and in which the server and the first computer are communicatively coupled via a communications network;

based at least in part on receiving from the first consumer the request to sell the item, the server sending requesting from a to the provider, which is not the first consumer, authorization a request to release the at least one restriction on transferability of the item;

the server receiving from the provider authorization an indication that the at least one restriction on [[to]] transferability of the item is released;

based at least in part on receiving from the provider authorization the indication that the at least one restriction on [[to]] transferability of the item is released, causing the server presenting information about the item to be presented to at least a second consumer via a second computer to at least a in use by the second consumer, in which the server and the second computer are communicatively coupled via the communications network;

the server receiving from the second consumer via the second computer an indication to purchase the item; and

based at least in part on receiving from the provider the indication that the at least one restriction on transferability of the item is released, the server causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer.

14. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 13, further comprising:

the server receiving from the first consumer via the first computer information about the first consumer; and the server authenticating the first consumer based at least in part on using the information about the first consumer to authenticate the first consumer.

15. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 155, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a minimum price at which the first consumer may ~~[[re]]~~sell the item.

16. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 155, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a maximum number of the item~~[[s]]~~ that may be sold by the first consumer.

Claims 17-21 (Canceled).

22. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 13, further comprising:
the server receiving from the second consumer via the second computer information about the second consumer; and the server authenticating the second consumer based at least in part on using the information about the second consumer ~~to authenticate the second consumer~~.

Claims 23-30 (Canceled).

31. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 13, further comprising:
the server causing the second consumer to make a payment for the item in exchange for the item; and
the server causing the provider to receive at least a first portion of the payment from ~~made by~~ the second consumer and further causing the first consumer to receive at least a second portion of the payment made by the second consumer.

32. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 156, in which an amount of the payment comprises a flat fee.

33. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 156, in which the second consumer is charged a price for the item; and in which an amount of the payment comprises a percentage of the price.

34. (Currently Amended) A method performed by at least one server, the method comprising:

the server receiving from a first consumer via a first computer in use by the first consumer a request to sell an item,

in which the first consumer purchased the item directly or indirectly from a provider;

in which the provider placed on the item comprises at least one restriction on transferability, the at least one restriction on transferability comprising the item being non-transferable by the first consumer; and in which the server and the first computer are communicatively coupled via a communications network;

based at least in part on the at least one restriction on transferability on receiving from the first consumer the request to sell the item, the server determining that [[a]] the provider, other than the first consumer, has authorized released the at least one restriction on transferability of the item to be transferred;

based at least in part on determining that the provider has authorized released the at least one restriction on transferability of the item to be transferred, causing the server presenting information about the item to be presented at least a second consumer via a second computer in use by to at least a the second consumer, in which the server and the second computer are communicatively coupled via the communications network;

the server receiving from the second consumer via the second computer an indication to purchase the item; and based at least in part on determining that the provider released the at least one restriction on transferability of the item, the server causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer.

Claim 35 (Canceled).

36. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 170, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a minimum price at which the first consumer may [[re]]sell the item.

37. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 170, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a maximum number of the item[[s]] that may be sold by the first consumer.

Claims 38-49 (Canceled).

50. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 34, further comprising:
the server causing the second consumer to make a payment for the item in exchange for the item; and
the server causing the provider to receive at least a first portion of the payment from made by the second consumer and further causing the first consumer to receive at least a second portion of the payment made by the second consumer.

51. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 171, in which an amount of the payment comprises a flat fee.

52. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 171, in which the second consumer is charged a price for the item; and
in which an amount of the payment comprises a percentage of the price.

53. (Currently Amended) A method performed by at least one server, the method comprising:
the server receiving from a first consumer via a first computer in use by the first consumer a request to sell an item, in which the first consumer purchased the item directly or indirectly from a provider;
in which ~~[[a]] the provider, other than the first consumer,~~ placed on the item at least one restriction on transferability of the item, the at least one restriction on transferability comprising the item being non-transferable by the first consumer; and in which the server and the first computer are communicatively coupled via a communications network;

based at least in part on (i) the provider having ~~authorized~~ released the at least one restriction on [[a]] transferability of the item and (ii) receiving from the first consumer the request to sell the item, the server causing presenting information about the item to be presented to at least a second consumer via a second computer to at least a in use by the second consumer, in which the server and the second computer are communicatively coupled via the communications network;

the server receiving from the second consumer via the second computer an indication to purchase the item; and based at least in part on the provider having released the at least one restriction on transferability of the item, the server causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer.

Claim 54 (Canceled).

55. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 185, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a minimum price at which the first consumer may [[re]]sell the item.

Claims 57-70 (Canceled).

71. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 53, further comprising:

the server causing the second consumer to make a payment for the item in exchange for the item; and

the server causing the provider to receive at least a first portion of the payment from made by the second consumer and further causing the first consumer to receive at least a second portion of the payment made by the second consumer.

72. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 186, in which an amount of the payment comprises a flat fee.

73. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 186,
in which the second consumer is charged a price for the item; and
in which an amount of the payment comprises a percentage of the price.

74. (Currently Amended) A method performed by at least one server, the method comprising:

the server receiving from a first consumer via a first computer in use by the first consumer a request to sell an item, in which the first consumer purchased the item directly or indirectly from a provider; in which the provider placed on the item comprises at least one restriction on transferability, the at least one restriction on transferability comprising a restriction as to a price at which the first consumer may sell the item; and in which the server and the first computer are communicatively coupled via a communications network; based at least in part on receiving from the first consumer the request to sell the item, the server sending requesting that to the provider, other than the first consumer, authorize for a request to release the item a transfer that is contrary to the at least one restriction on transferability of the item; the server receiving from the provider an indication authorization for that the at least one restriction on transferability of the item is released; based at least in part on receiving from the provider authorization for the indication that the at least one restriction on the transferability of the item is released, causing the server presenting information about the item to at least a second consumer be presented via a second computer in use by the to at least a second consumer, in which the server and the second computer are communicatively coupled via the communications network; the server receiving from the second consumer via the second computer an indication to purchase the item; and based at least in part on receiving from the second consumer the indication to purchase the item, the server causing the item to be transferred from the first consumer to the second consumer.

Claim 75 (Canceled).

76. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 190, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a minimum price at which the first consumer may [[re]]sell the item.

77. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 190, in which the at least one additional restriction on transferability of the item comprises a maximum number of the item[[s]] that may be sold by the first consumer.

Claims 78-91 (Canceled).

92. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 74, further comprising:
the server causing the second consumer to make a payment for the item in exchange for the item; and
the server causing the provider to receive at least a first portion of the payment ~~from~~ made by the second consumer and further causing the first consumer to receive at least a second portion of the payment made by the second consumer.

93. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 191, in which an amount of the payment comprises a flat fee.

94. (Currently Amended) The method of claim 191, in which the second consumer is charged a price for the item; and in which an amount of the payment comprises a percentage of the charged price.
